

Customer Support Representative

The Role

As a Customer Support Representative, you are responsible for the operational management of a portfolio of customer accounts, consisting of a mix of Airlines and 3rd party shops. Within the contracted customer support team the biggest goal is to deliver customer repairs on time for the right price. Together with your colleagues, you will take care of the order process for the product line Component Services, consisting of both outsourced and inhouse repair orders, as well as offering exchanges. Within this setting, you will function as a connector to tie all ends together, representing the customer within the organization and the other way around.

You report to the Customer Support Manager within the Component Services business line. Within this role you will maintain a direct communication line to our customer and sales organization and closely interact with the repair buyers.

The Department

The Component Services Customer Support department is part of Fokker Services Operations and consists of a team focused on our inhouse MRO customers as well as your team, which focuses on the Contracted Program Customer. These teams each focus on a specific segment of our business defined by the product-customer combination and work closely together with our inhouse repair shops as well as the operational buyer team who outsource part of the repairs.

The Customer Support Representatives is the link between the customer and the procurement department and responsible for the on-time delivery of customer orders for roughly all products and services of Fokker Services (Spares, exchanges, and repairs). Through continuous improvement on processes and services, the Customer Support branch strives to guarantee the ultimate Customer experience.
